Monday, February 24, 1873. The Work of the Session. In the main the fruits of the late ses sion of the Legislature must be very satisfactory indeed, when there are but two Acts out of the forty-three passed with which our morning contemporary has any serious fault to find. We were quite prepared for a larger measure of fault-finding; not because of any substantial grounds to justify it, but simply to gratify a morbid dislike to the Ministry, and, if possible, to prejudice the public mind against the gentlemen who compose it. The two Acts to which our contemporary takes particular exception, are, first, the Constitution Amendment Act, providing for the creation of a sixth seat in the Cabinet and a fourth portfolio, and, secondly, the Married Women's Rights Act. Referring to the ted at all reasonable hours.

JOHN MORLEY, first of these Acts, the Colonist says : "The bill creating a new Portfolio saddles the country with close upon seven thousand dollars a year of useless expenditore, and creating a sixth Minister, in order that the Government may be strong enough numerically to set public opinion at defiance and secure themselves the office for the balance of the parliamentary term. This measure, too, has been pretty fully discussed, and it has met with very general condemnation at the hands of the people, who do not fail to detect in it a fatal stab at their Constitutional rights and an opening of the floodgates of extravagance and probable corruption in the management of public affairs." Now, it seems to us that the very objections urged against this measure by our contemporary, to persons who take an unprejudiced view of the subject, will prove its most commendable features. In the first phace, we have on a previous occasion. lemonstrated by figures, which the Colchais has never attempted to controvert, the country "close upon seven thousand dollars a year of useless expenditure," reductions have been made in the Provincial Secretary's Department alone which more than compensates for the expenditures rendered necessary by the creation of the new Portfolio, to the extent of $1,272. So that count in the indictment against the Government, falls harmlessly to the ground. The grievous sin of the Government, according to the Colonist, is, that by the creation of a sixth Minister it will be so strengthened as to make it a very much more difficult matter to upset it than it otherwise would be. A numerically strong government, according to the political ethics of our neighbor, must necessarily be a corrupt one; and per contra, if we would have an honest administration of public affairs, the Government must hold office by such an uncertain tenure that the slightest manifestation of independence will at any time be sufficient to seal their MISS KATE DENIN. doom. As a rule, to be strong is to be independent, and to be independent is to be honest; and more particularly is e in respect of a Government holding office by virtue of the good will and confidence of a majority of the people's representatives in Parliament assembled. To suppose that in a Legisla ave members, it is possible for any Ministry to become so strong as " to set public opinion at defince," is an utte: makes and unm kes both Ministers and Representatives; it is public opinion that gives force and effect to legislation, governs the actions of those who make the laws, and guards the public interests against aujust enectments and maladmintration on the part of those who hold the reins of power. Hence the fears entertained by our contemporary of "probable corruption in the management of public affairs," as a result of there being six Ministers in the Cabinet, are scarcely deserving of serious consideration. The assertion that "this measure, has met with very general condemmation at the hands of the people," is without any foundation in fact, unless by "the people 'is meant a few individuals in Victoria, who signend a petition against it, not because they had any to get rid of those who badgered them to do so. As for the Women's Rights Bill a great deal more noise has been made about it than there was any necesprinciple of the Bill, which is almost a ranscript of a law now is force in England. If upon a trial of its provisions it be found that they facilitate fraud, and that evil-disposed persons take advantage thereof to defraud their neighbors, the law can be easily so amended as to speaking of the retrenchment policy of the Government the Column indicated. the Government, the Colonist indulges in the following strain : "After all the loud flourish of trumpets, the retrench-ment policy of the new Ministry proves to be an empty wind-bag—figures so placed as to mislead the public. A bloated Executive absorbs all that has en saved from decapitated underlings, Out of $335,300 a paltry $87,950 only is available for roads, streets, and bridges throughout the entire country ! Here is an abstract fact which cannot possibly be controverted by the most deft mani-pulation of figures or the most unscruputom concealment of the truth." Now, when the above quotation was penned, the writer could not have been ignorant of the fact that out of the sum of $335. 300, the present Government were call ed spon to make good the sum of $133 -$33, expenditure defrayed by the officer in charge of the Treasury for which no vote was taken, for the year 1872, which If added to the $87,950 appropriated for able works, will reduce the amount of expenditure on government account to $113,689, which is less by some thirty and thousand dollars than it was last year. All things considered, "the public" will say this in not a bad beginning, the Colonist to the contrary notwith-

City Council. meeting of the City Council was held on aturday evening last, His Worship the Mayor presiding. The following Councillors sent: Gowen, Taylor, Hayward, ond, Keast and Dalby.

The minutes of the last meeting baving been read and adopted, a letter from D. Fasanaro, complaining of a nuisance near to Waddington Ailey, was referred to the Street Committee.

A communication from the Secretary of the Victoria Gas Co., intimating intention to open part of Yates street for the laying of gas pipes, gave rise to considerable discussion.

Conne llor Hayward was of opinion that permission ought to be asked for the perance of such operation; before the ground Councillor Taylor objected to the assent of Councillor Hayward would move that the letter be returned to Mr. Thomson, and that he be be notified that the permission of the Council was necessary previous to streets being opened up at pleasure. If Mr. Thomor that permission, his application would be onsidered in due course.

Several other Councillors would like to see the old bill tooted first, i. c., before further operations were permitted.

His Worship also ruled that the Company eally ought to pay the bill. illor Hayward's motion was then put THEATER ROYAL -- On Saturday night monster house assembled to witness the pro-Borgia." The theatre was densely nacked in every part, and the audience were evidently delighted with the various impersonations of the difficult characters; Miss Kate Denia appeared in the title role, and Mr. G. B. Waldros admirably sustained the part of Genarro. Mr. J. H. Vinson gave an excellent represen-tation of the Duke of Ferrara; and Messrs, Coz, Piercy and Crosbie, as Gubetta, Maffijo, and Jeppo, were irreproactable. The plot of the play is so well known to every body that it would be useless to recapitulate it; affice it therefore to say that the whole p:ece was enacted most creditably, and that the combined efforts of Miss Denin and Mr. Waldron elicited, at the conclusion of each act, perfect burricane of applause, bringing these favorite representatives of the legiti-mate drama, before the curtain, upon more occasions than one. At the end of the last seene, when Lucretia finds that her son has anwittingly been poisoned by her instrumentality, and when Genarro raves at the thought that his dearest friends have met such a horrible tate at her hands, and threatens to kill his unknown mother for her hid cous crime, the acting was very pathetic and grand, and finally when Lucretia makes herself known to her son by the simple words

I am thy mother," and falls upon his neck
as he draws his last breath, filled with self repreach, and sobbing with words of bitter eled impatience, and came down with vehoment approbation. After a short interlude, the performance concluded with a very comical farce..." The Area Bille,"-in which repocial merit is due to Mr. Crosbie, in the this latter is a most laughable affair, and the audience seemed to think that the gentleman must be blessed with an indiarubber facesuch fearful contortions in his sneezing agony distorted his countenance. He was neored . The other parts of Penelops, Walker Chalks, Mrs. Croaker, and Private coser, were excellently taken by Mrs. Wal-ron, Mr. Barrows, Mrs. Crosbie, and Mr. ex, respectively; and the audience was con-alsed with laughter during the whole farce To-morrow night this popular company will play "Othello," concluding with a farce.

Out of the Frying Pan into the Fire.

EDITOR STANDARD : To prevent the proposed extension of the city boundaries, some of the residents in the suburbs have petitioned duction of the celebrated drama " Lucrecia municipality. The attractive hait held out to the signers was " to escape taxation, you This ruse succeeded in inducing many to sign who now see their error. A greater folly was never committed. The establishment of a municipality in Victoria dis trict means permanently placing the whole power of taxation and expenditure in the hands of a few land owners near Victoria. It means being cut off from the advantages of Victoria c ty improvements, water, police, and the protection of its efficient fire depart ment. Regarded simply as a question of dollars and cents, the petitioners have made a great mistake. But to again hand themselves over to the tender mercies of the H R Co. and their friends, the landed oligarchy. after just succeeding in shaking off that dreadful incubus, is worse than all. I cannot believe that two-thirds of my neighbors have signed this thing. I know that some having no interest have been solicited, and have signed, and I question very much if the constitutional number of names are attached to the document.

As a small freeholder in the district, I decidedly object to the proposed incorporation and hope that the Government will take proper tops to ascertain the netual number residents in the district before issuing letters February 22, 1873.

EDITOR STANDARD : The Victoria public is enerally accorded to be a generous one. Can othing be done for the editor of the Colon. ist? He appears to need sympathy badly for his symptoms of hypochondria are becom ing alarming. Yesterday he discovered an awful conspiracy in connection with the Victoria and Esquimatt Railway Company ; today he sees something horribly ommous in the quiet behavior of the assemblage at the prorogation of the Legislative Chuncil. I fear that if something is not done for him shortly, his malady will become so confirmed as to be incurable. Can you suggest a remedy ? PHILOS.

Near Correctionvile, John Sparks and Joseph Sanders went out to get some wood at a distance of four miles. The storm caugh them, but they pushed on. When a mile and a half from home they threw out their load to go on more quickly, but just beyond the road made a curve; they passed this curve without turning, and so every step afterwards was a step away from home. At night they camped under the sleigh, about three miles from home. A trapper heard their shouts, but thought them but the booting of owls. All day Wednesday, Wednesday night and Thursday the men were alive and wandering up and down, bewildered by the terrible storm. The trapper followed them all day Wedgesday, but could not find them. On Thursday night their borse came home, and following back his tracks they found the two men seven miles away, about two feet apart, frozen stark and stiff. The dog which had accompanied them remained with the bodies, and had kept them from being covered by the snow. Each man left a widow and children, the latter all young. Sauder's family is destitute.
